First Friends Road Worker

Item number 76127

A First Friends Road Worker with a road drill on a stand. Pull the cord and the drill springs into action, giving children a clear result for every pull. The Road Worker detaches from the stand for play on his own, with clicking, moving arms and legs and a squeaker. Children work the drill, pose the figure and act out roadside jobs.

KEY FEATURES

-  Pull-cord road drill
Pull the cord and watch the drill spring into action.
-  Detachable figure
Road Worker lifts off the stand for independent play.
-  Clicking arms and legs
Arms and legs move with a click into different poses.
-  Squeaker
A built-in squeaker rewards every squeeze with a sound.

LEARNING & DEVELOPMENT

-  Cause and effect
Pulling the cord sets the drill going, linking action to result.
-  Fine motor skills
Gripping the cord and clicking the limbs into position exercises small hands.
-  Imaginative play
Children act out roadworks and repairs with the worker and his drill.
-  Language development
Talking about drill, road and worker introduces new job vocabulary.
